

Mabuhay ang mga bagong Iskolar ng Bayan!

Isang mainit na pagbat!! Hindi ko na ulitin ang mga sinabi ko sa ating orientation nuong ika-9 hanggang ika-13 ng Mayo, na napakapalad ninyo at naririto kayo ngayon sa UPD dahil talagang napakaliit na bahagi lamang ng mga kumuha ng UPCAT ang pumasa dito, at kung bakit Iskolar ng Bayan ang bago ninyong pangalan. Tiyak kong hanggang ngayon ay nag-uumpapaw pa rin ang tuwa ng inyong mga magulang at mag-anak.

Enriquez

Ang gusto kong sabihin ngayon ay Mabuhay! Maligayang pagdating sa unibersidad! Panimula na ng isang napakahalagang bahagi ng inyong buhay.

Sa pagdaan ng inyong mga araw bilang Isko at Iska, mapapansin ninyo na ang unibersidad ay punong-puno ng mga hamon sa inyong kakayahan at mga gawaing mag-aaral na magmumulat ng inyong mga mata at magpapalawak ng inyong pang-unawa sa kalakhang lipunan. Makikilala at makakahalubilo ninyo ang iba't ibang uri ng tao—mga guro, kapwa mag-aaral, atbp.—na magpapayaman ng inyong kaalaman sa kapaligiran. Magkakaroon kayo ng mga bagong kaibigan, kakilala, mga kasamahan sa mga aktibidad sa eskuwela o maging sa mga hanapbuhay sa hinaharap. Baka nga dito rin ninyo makilala ang inyong magiging kabiyak. Maliban sa seryosong pag-aaral at pagsusunog ng kilay, maraming maaaring gawin o salihang aktibidad—mula sa iba't ibang larangan ng sining gaya ng musika, teatro, sayaw; mga gawain at paligsahan sa palakasan; mga samahang akademiko, politikal, ispiritwal, pang-kalikasan, pang-kasarian; at samu't saring aktibidad na kumakatawan sa iba't ibang interes, hilig at paniniwala. Hindi kayo mawawalan ng mapagpipilian.

Kung kailangan ninyo ng sagot sa ilang katanungan o tulong kaya sa ilang suliranin, tandaan ninyo na maliban sa inyong mga guro, kaklase at kaibigan, may Office of the Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs (OVCSA). Naririto kami upang damayan kayo kung kailangan ng damay, tulungan kung kailangan ng tulong, at alalayan kung kailangan ng alalay. Gaya ng nabanggit na namin sa inyo nuong orientation, kabilang sa aming mga serbisyo ang scholarships, tutorials, counseling at guidance o pagpapayo at paggabay, dormitoryo, pag-aalagang pangkalusugan at pang-nutrisyon, pagsubaybay sa mga organisasyong pang-mag-aaral, tulong pinansiyal, atbp.

Ang mga yunit sa ilalim ng OVCSA—Office of Counseling and Guidance (OCG), Office of Student Housing (OSH), Office of Scholarships and Student Services (OSSS), Office of Student Activities (OSA), Student Disciplinary Tribunal (SDT), University Health Service (UHS), University Food Service (UFS), Diliman Learning Resource Center (DLRC) at UP-DOST Core Group—ay laging nariryan at nakahandang tumulong upang maayos ninyong magampanan at matapos ang inyong tungkulin bilang Iskolar ng Bayan.

Sana ay maging makabuluhan, nakapagpapayaman at puspos ng saya ang inyong mga taon sa Unibersidad ng Pilipinas. Hangad ko ang inyong tagumpay!

Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs

The following are units under the OVCSA located at Vinzons Hall:

Office of Student Activities (OSA)—coordinates projects of student organizations. It processes the official recognition papers of university-based organizations, provides technical assistance for organization projects, functions as an information center and serves as the coordinating body between student organizations and non-UP groups in cooperative activities. OSA also attends to the needs and concerns of about 200 international students enrolled at UPD each year in aspects such as admission, visas, study permits, housing and keeps track of their academic progress. It is located at the Annex, and may be reached at telephone number 981-8500 local 4507 and 4508.

Office of Scholarships and Student Services (OSSS)—implements the Socialized Tuition and Financial Assistance Program (STFAP), administers government funded and private scholarships and offers a number of financial assistance programs. The STFAP grants qualified students subsidies covering tuition, laboratory and miscellaneous fees based on a student's financial needs and capacity to pay. Other financial assistance programs include tuition loans, short-term cash loans and student assistantships. OSSS is located at Rooms 301 to 305, with telephone number 981-8500 locals 4503 to 4504.

Office of Student Housing (OSH)—manages the 10 residence halls or dormitories on campus. Of the 10 dormitories, five are co-educational: Kalayaan (exclusively for freshmen), Ipil (graduate students), Molave, Yakal and the International Center (foreign students). Four are exclusively for women, namely Ilang-Ilang, Kamia, Sampaguita and Sanggumay (graduate students). Narra is exclusively for males. The OSS likewise maintains a list of houses on campus accepting boarders or lodgers. OSH is at Room 201 and may be reached at telephone number 981-8500 local 4510.

Office of Counseling and Guidance (OCG)—offers free professional counseling, psychological testing and human resource development programs to students, faculty and administrative staff. OCG is located at Room 307 with telephone numbers 929-5835 (direct line) or 981-8500 locals 4501 and 4502.

Student Disciplinary Tribunal (SDT)—conducts hearings on cases involving violations of student rules and regulations and keeps records of such cases. The SDT likewise issues clearances and certificates of good moral character and offers free legal advice. SDT is housed at Rooms 202 to 204 with telephone number 981-8500 local 4509.

University Food Service (UFS)—provides food that is nutritious, safe, wholesome and reasonably priced. The UFS operates three outlets, namely the Bakeshop offering pastries, cakes and cookies; Vinzons Grill, serving lunch and snacks; and the Catering Unit, which services food requirements for different occasions. All three units of the UFS are located at the Ground Floor and may be reached at 981-8500 locals 4513 and 4514.

In addition to the above units, Vinzons Hall houses the Philippine Collegian, the official student publication of the UPD. It is located at fourth floor, with telephone number 981-8500 local 4222.

Adjacent to the Collegian are the offices of the University Student Council (USC), the body of elected student officials who endeavor to address student, campus and national issues during their 1-year term. The USC also attempts to maximize student participation in University activities through various venues such as symposia, cultural shows, sports festivals, group discussions and student assemblies. The USC offices are at Rooms 205 to 206, with telephone number 981-8500 local 4521.

The OVCSA has two other units not located at Vinzons Hall. These are:

The Diliman Learning Resource Center (DLRC)—offers free tutorials in Math, Chemistry, Physics and Communication. It also has programs to help students adjust to their learning and social environments. The DLRC is designed to supplement, complement and coordinate the learning assistance programs to ensure that the goal of promoting academic excellence is realized in a more caring and nurturing environment.

At the DILC, the UP-DOST Core Group attends to RA7687, scholars or the Department of Science and Technology (DOST) scholars enrolled at UPD. The group monitors the scholars' academic performance, facilitates the release of their stipends and manages the Science and Technology Learning Assistance Program. The service unit was established in 1997 through a memorandum of agreement between UP and the DOST.

Both the DLRC and the DILC are located at Kamia Residence Hall, and may be reached at telephone number 9275802.

University Health Service (UHS)—operates a 50-bed primary hospital capable of handling simple, uncomplicated and stable medical conditions. It promotes general health and well-being by providing physical and medical examinations, immunizations and medical consultations on weekdays in the following specializations: internal medicine, general surgery, neurology, OB-Gyne, psychiatry, allergology-immunology and dermatology. It is located along J. P. Laurel St., across the Parish of the Holy Sacrifice and the Shopping Center and may be reached at telephone numbers 928-3608 or 981-8500 with locals 2701 and 2072.

Announcements should be forwarded at least one month prior to the activity's schedule.

To all the freshmen of UP Diliman, welcome!

Román

Welcome to what promises to be one of the most fulfilling times in your lives.

A UP education has never been just about academic instruction. We welcome diversity and encourage a free exchange of ideas. We ask that you live without blinders, and see the world for all that it is. Because of this, I believe that you, as a UP student, will grow in leaps and bounds during your stay here.

Many say that UP will give you an idea of what the "real world" is like. I suppose the large variety of people and ideas lends credence to this notion. But I would like to remind you that the "real world" often is not as open to diversity, not as receptive to new ideas.

As freshmen, keep in mind that you should be the ones influencing society; and that when you graduate, you are expected to lead our country and serve our people. If you hold on to the ideals of mutual respect that we work hard to foster, then you are on your way to becoming great Filipinos.

But all that is still in the future. Right now, you are still at the beginning. And we at UP promise you that this is the beginning of an incredible and wonderful journey.

Mabuhay kayong lahat!

Dr. Emerlinda R. Román
President

Welcome to UP Diliman

Cao

Not only did you pass the UP College Admission Test, you have also made it to the flagship campus of the University of the Philippines. On these twin achievements, I congratulate you.

Now begins your challenge to meet UPD's academic demands. Of course, the absolute goal is not simply to get good grades; you must get a good education. Studying, hitting the books, reviewing for exams, are never excuses for not having a social life. Make lots of friends, get involved in student organizations, join many extracurricular activities. On the other hand, an active social life is never an excuse for not having high standards in your academic life. Good grades and a good social life are not incompatible. But just how much studying you should do depends on the kind of degree. Balance your priorities in your college life.

We in the UPD administration will try our best to make your stay at UPD worth safe and conducive to learning. We have almost 500 hectares here, and some UPD students graduate without exploring the campus. The map, Sun Tzu said, is not the territory. Similarly, learning is not merely confined to the class syllabus. You have to put in some effort, ask around, explore the possibilities.

Enjoy your stay in the University.

Dr. Sergio S. Cao
Chancellor

"Matatapang, matatalino... walang takot kahit kanino... ganyan kaming mga taga-UP!"

The fourth issue of What's UP? is especially dedicated to you, UP Diliman Freshmen of Academic Year 2006-2007. Now that you've made it through the UPCAT, hurdled past the physical exams at the UP Health Service, and have gone through the disorientation of finding rooms, offices and buildings in the 493-hectare expanse of UPD, we welcome you to the flagship campus of the University of the Philippines System.

It's not easy to be on one's toes, studying for exams and losing sleep over one's assigned readings, and still find worthwhile gigs, concerts, performances, exhibits, discounted sales, places to eat and events to attend at UPD.

Given this, any new student will naturally be overwhelmed: a campus so big that five jeepney routes ply its roads? A self-contained city with a hospital, a post office, banks, parks, restaurants, dormitories, Internet cafés, classrooms, laboratories, libraries, performance halls? Yes. UPD has those, probably more. The only thing we are missing is a burial ground.

To give you more than a thumbs guide on where you may want to be, the UP Diliman Information Office (UPDIO) and the Office for Initiatives in Culture and the Arts (OICA) come out with What's UP? regularly.

What's UP? this issue is your tourists' guide to your second home. Of course, with the hopes that you will not be tourists for too long.

This June, your campus life will be peppered with getting-to-know-you parties and concerts your respective colleges and units are organizing especially for you. Build those precious friendships at this time, because some of these may in fact last a lifetime.

By July, another exciting facet of campus life unfolds: that is when the University goes out to cheer our teams in the UAAP games. Brace yourself for this baptism of fire, as your sense of belonging to UP Naming Mahal becomes more entrenched than ever.

Meanwhile, immerse yourselves in the academic ambience that only your campus can offer. Make the most of it, and continue to dream and believe in your dreams as you stroll around the sylvan alameda of the Academic Oval that is uniquely UP Diliman!

Rubén D. F. Defeo

UP is life

A UP education is more than a degree from a prestigious university. Alongside acquiring an expertise or a vocation, one learns precious life skills: critical thinking, independence, cooperation and survival.

For unlike other colleges or universities, UPD is more than a learning institution: it is a community where academics and scholars interact daily with most, if not all strata of Philippine society. This is largely due to the peculiar composition of its constituents and its unique physical make-up.

The teaching complement of the whole UP System has been described as "the finest collection of brains" in the country and it is for good reason. UP has the biggest critical mass of faculty with master's and doctorate degrees, since UP encourages its faculty members to pursue graduate studies at its various campuses and prestigious universities abroad.

Enrolment at UPD is truly heterogeneous, where students admitted are a mix of public, science, state, private and even foreign high school graduates. Geographically, UPD students come from all regions in the country, with a greater number coming from the National Capital Region. A good number of foreign students are also enrolled. In terms of economic status, the student population represents annual family incomes ranging from P100,000 or less to more than P1 million.

Thus, one has the chance to interface with the whole range of Philippine society: heirs of political dynasties chauffeured in single digit SUVs, hijab-covered scholars from the South, PhilAms (Pinoy Americans) with call center accents, kolehiyals speaking in affected Taglish, promdis (from the provinces) with thick regional accents, and students working part-time in various UPD administration offices.

Outside the classroom, one comes face to face with the harsher realities of life: little girls selling scoongies (pony tail holders) at the Main Library and at the CASAA canteen; boys begging for leftover food at the UP Cooperative canteen; men, women and children scavenging for empty water bottles, styrofoam and assorted recyclable containers; and vendors peddling assorted goods such as banana cue, monay, taho, balut, "dirty" ice cream, pirated DVDs, books, pearls, cookware and electronic gadgets, among others.

There is more to the campus than its core, the Academic Oval, or the peripheral areas serviced by the Ikot and Toki jeeps. The university sits on a 493-hectare property, cut almost in half by Commonwealth Ave. Towards Fairview, UPD's lands cover the Petron gas station, the defunct carnival and the Asian Institute of Tourism (AIT). Beyond these areas are the Arboretum, touted as the last virgin forest this side of Metro Manila, the National Hydraulics Research Center and a large, unauthorized middle-class residential area. Other than tourism or hydraulics engineering majors, students do not usually frequent these areas.

Within the campus proper, the university's property starts from Philcoa and covers the commercial spaces and the Bliss housing site behind it. It extends all the way to Balara along Katipunan Ave., to the UP housing units along Pook Amorsolo and the Sikatuna Bliss housing site.

Within this vast land resource are areas marked for the university's academic and administrative functions, student dormitories, housing for faculty and staff, technology and science complexes, commercial use and recreation. The seemingly large pockets of open spaces are actually reserved for future academic use.

Along the periphery are teeming squatter colonies, most of which are skillfully camouflaged by thick tall grasses and bushes. In 2005, it was estimated that more than 20,000 squatter families have laid claim to 66 hectares of UP property, and were concentrated in 15 areas along the major thoroughfares. Krus na Ligas, the busy commercial/residential area that thrives on board and lodging accommodations for students, was once part of the UP property.

Reclaiming land usurped by illegal settlers has been a priority of successive UP administration officials. It is a long, difficult, expensive and often dangerous undertaking.

Being a government institution, the University's grounds are open to the general public. Daily, hundreds of motorists cut through the campus to avoid traffic along Commonwealth Ave. or Katipunan Ave. Five public transportation routes traverse UPD: the Ikot, Toki, Philcoa, Katipunan and SM North jeeps, carrying hundreds of people in and out of the campus.

Visitors, passers-by and anyone may enter the grounds for whatever purposes, except of course buildings and facilities used by the university. On Sundays, when motorized vehicles are banned from the Academic Oval, the Sunken Garden and the Lagoon are transformed into picnic and recreation grounds where cyclists, joggers, athletes, golfers and the like, many with families and dogs in tow, enjoy nature and the relatively unpolluted air. The crowd, in turn, attracts those eager to make a living—the vendors, peddlers and even petty criminals.

Two public events swell UPD's population: the nightly concerts at the UP Fair in February, and the Lantern Parade in December.

Thus, UPD is much like any regular district or barangay, where the vagaries of day to day living, even the unpleasant, can happen, sometimes intruding into one's scholarly pursuits. The UPD Police blotters are chock-full of reports of petty thefts and crimes committed on students, faculty and employees: cellular phone snatching, pickpockets, hold-up in jeeps, akyat-bahay, drug use, drug pushing, and in isolated cases, even homicide or murder.

Administration officials have been pushing the envelope to make the campus safer and more secure, particularly for its legitimate constituents. To beef up its police force, a Special Services Brigade (SSB) is deployed to the Academic Oval and adjacent areas 24 hours daily. At any given time, eight men, garbed in neon orange vests and armed with wooden batons, whistles, handcuffs and flashlights (at night) patrol the area on foot to shadow and accost suspicious-looking characters. Persons loitering in dark areas and around Vinzons Hall beyond 10 p.m. are asked to show identification; those not connected with the university are asked to leave. Should an incident occur, the SSB reports the matter to the UPD Police, who will take over. The SSB also escorts students using the Main Library on extended hours back to their dorms.

In addition, both sidewalks flanking the streets encircling the Academic Oval and certain areas in the Sunken Garden and the Lagoon have been fully illuminated by 70-watt high pressure sodium (HPS) bulbs. These lights exhibit higher contrast and better detail perception, making it easier to sense movement and identify objects and persons in the dark.

To contain traffic, UPD closed seven minor access roads and opened only the University Ave., Osmeña Ave. Magsaysay Ave. and E. Jacinto St. to pedestrians and vehicles until 10 p.m. since March 2004. By 10 p.m., the campus may only be accessed through the University Ave.

Stricter security measures have been implemented by the colleges themselves, starting with the "No ID No Entry" policy in all buildings. In most colleges, only one or two gates are open, where guards dutifully inspect the bags of all those seeking to enter its premises.

The Special Services Brigade (SSB) keeps watch over the Academic Oval and nearby areas, 24/7, as part of UPD's security measures around the campus.

If these were not enough, the administration and college officials themselves tirelessly reiterate that safety is everyone's concern, and advise all constituents to take special precautions, particularly in areas densely populated by informal settlers, and in vulnerable open spaces. These areas include Philcoa itself, where numerous incidents of pickpocket and snatching have been reported; the stretch of the University Ave. from Philcoa to C.P. Garcia Ave. along Barangay San Vicente; Ylanan Road at the College of Human Kinetics leading to Commonwealth Ave. and the footbridge connecting the AIT to the campus proper. However, there have been reported cases of petty theft within the colleges themselves, totally discounting the possibility of attributing the crimes exclusively to outsiders or to "non-UP."

Despite the sometimes florid picture of UPD painted by the media, the campus remains a haven for scholars and academics. It is the last remaining space for free expression, for the unhampered pursuit of truth and knowledge, and the best training ground for bigger challenges in life, which is an opportunity offered only to a privileged few, for the best and the brightest.

Welcome to UPD, and make the most of your stay.

CELEBRATION

UP TOMO KAI 16th Anniversary Week: Eien Ni Kagayaku Juuroku: Kislap ng Tomo-Kai Buhay na Buhay— Activities slated for the week include:

1. An interactive cultural exhibit at the AS Lobby featuring a visual exhibit of Filipino and Japanese-related articles, booths on Ikebana (flower arrangement), origami (paper folding), kitsuke (kimono wearing), shodou (calligraphy) and sadou (tea ceremony), tanabata tree, alibata booth and performances/demonstrations from Arnis masters and the UP Kontra-Gapi.
2. Ramen-Polvoron Relay. This year's event is expected to be pumped with more energy as the contestants complete a pseudo obstacle course along Roces St. where they must also eat ramen and polvoron as fast as they can. Student teams, including a Japanese team from the International Center, will compete to be the highest jumpers, fastest runners and bravest eaters for a chance to win the top prizes.
3. Kissaten, the TK café. To accommodate students who might want to unwind in the middle of a hectic day, a traditional Japanese-inspired living room at the AS Lobby will hold the UP Tomo-Kai Library, comprised mostly of Japanese books, magazines and manga. Aside from these, ocha (tea) will also be served. Members of the organization who have had the chance to go to Japan are supervising this activity, making sure that the essence of the Japanese way of drinking tea is experienced and appreciated by everyone. This year's café is also serving the authentic Philippine kapeng barako as an alternative to tea. Japanese movies with light-hearted stories will also be screened.
4. Tomo-Kai Cultural night at the Dalisay Aldaba Hall. The show features various expressions and interpretations of traditional as well as contemporary aspects of Filipino and Japanese culture like songs and dances from guest performers like the Kontra-Gapi, UP Social Dance Club and UP Rep. There are performances from Tomo-Kai members with the special participation of students from the International Center.
(July 17 to 21. For particulars call Catherine Diomambo at 373-0057 or at 0906-3059922)

THEATER

Shadows of the Reef—The play is a shared experience of traditions existing in abandoned sea villages. The production reveals insights into the socio-cultural elements of religion, ritual, community, family and rites of survival. The play questions the abuse of children involved in illegal fishing, and digs into religious expressions of suffering at the price of salvation.

(July 19 to August 6. For tickets and showtimes, call Dulaang UP at 926-1349 or 981-8500 local 2449)

New, Prima Materia, 2004

EXHIBIT

Myself as Adam after the Big Bang by Jan Leeroy New— Artist Jan Leeroy New's first 1-man exhibit shows his current practice in art, which he draws from his fascination with biblical stories, local folklore, superstitions, and both religious and secular Filipino iconography. The underlying theme for this exhibition is the Genesis. New stylizes this with a depiction of the creative nature of the Big Bang explosion. He explains his current works as a move into his deeper self as an artist, nonetheless bearing both historical and cultural forces that initially shaped him. New is a senior at the College of Fine Arts. He was given the Outstanding Award for Visual Arts and the Sunico Foundation for Arts and Technology Scholarship when he graduated from the Philippine High School for the Arts in Mt. Makiling, Los Baños, Laguna. He has also joined a number of art competitions and group exhibitions both in Luzon and Mindanao.
(June 6 to July 5 at the The Third Floor Foyer, UP Jorge B. Vargas Museum. Sponsored by the Metrobank Foundation. For inquiries, please call Linda at 928-1927, or email vargasmuseum@gmail.com).

Through the Palette's Eye—The exhibition focuses on the palette, an essential and indispensable art implement, in a different light. The country's finest artists have translated their ideas on to it in this truly unique collection. The resulting pieces reflect the fusion of their concepts, with most of them using their trademark images and a fresh medium in the palette. Artists include Bencab, Malang, Anita Magsaysay-Ho, Soler Santos, Manuel Baldemor, Pacita

Pacita Abad, Pinwheel Donuts

Abad, Elmer Borlongan, Steve Santos, Mark Justiniani, Kiko Escora, José Santos III, among others.
(June 13 to July 30 at The Edge Gallery, UP Jorge B. Vargas Museum. Presented in cooperation with Art Sentral Manila. For inquiries, please call Linda at 928-1927, or email vargasmuseum@gmail.com).

Ian Fairweather in the Philippines—From May 15 to June 26, Australian artist Tony Twigg will be a visiting research fellow at the Jorge B. Vargas Museum & Filipiniana Research

Fairweather, Kite Flying, 1957

Center. While in residence, Twigg will explore the Vargas archives to look for materials on Filipino National Artist Victorio Edades, whom Ian Fairweather met during his stay in the Philippines. Twigg's investigation of the Edades-Fairweather interaction will add to the history of art prior to World War II. After the residency, Twigg will present his explorations in "Ian Fairweather in the Philippines." He will mainly feature seven scrolls of reproduced artwork of Fairweather. In addition, historic and contemporary photographs and artworks by other artists similar to the oriental influence of Fairweather's artworks will also be shown. Fellow artists regard Ian Fairweather as Australia's greatest painter of all time, in addition to having an exciting, tragic, extremely diverse and interesting life. He was born in Scotland in 1891, extensively traveled during his years of early education, attended an officer training school and became a POW during WWI. He studied art in Holland, London, Munich, the Hague Academy, privately with Johannes van Mastenbroek, the School of Oriental Studies, and the Slade School in London. Fairweather arrived in Melbourne, Australia in 1934, and much later that year, he traveled to the Philippines. Here he acquired the oriental sense of space vis-à-vis European context. This became the prevailing feature in his paintings from this period onwards. Fairweather achieved what few artists have accomplished—the combination of western and Asian influences in his work. Among these few artists who combined Western and Asian influences are American artist Mark Tobey and Filipino National Artist Edades.

(June 27 to August 13 at The Lobby, UP Jorge B. Vargas Museum. For inquiries, please call Linda at 928-1927, or email vargasmuseum@gmail.com)

SCREENING

Brokeback Mountain—is an award-winning film that depicts a sexual, romantic and emotional relationship between two men in the American West from 1963 to 1983. The film, released in 2005, is directed by Ang Lee from a screenplay by Diana Ossana and Larry McMurtry, which they adapted from the short story "Brokeback Mountain" by Annie Proulx. The film stars Heath Ledger, Jake Gyllenhaal, Anne Hathaway, Michelle Williams, and Randy Quaid. Brokeback Mountain was honored by the Academy Awards, BAFTA, the Golden Globe Awards, and many other organizations and festivals. Brokeback Mountain had the most nominations (8) in the 78th Academy Awards, where it won three: Best Director, Best Adapted Screenplay, and Best Original Score.

(July 4, 5 p.m. at Cine Adarna. Free admission for freshmen sponsored by the FOPC. For inquiries call the FOPC/OSA at 920-5399 or 981-8500 local 4507)

LECTURE SERIES

UP Alumni Council Meeting: Population and Environment—The meeting's theme is a sequel of the themes of the past three years in the hope that participants will gain deeper insights into population issues and their impact on the quality of life of Filipinos. Guest speakers who are acknowledged leaders in their field of specialization will speak on the following topics:

1. "Population and Environment: Of Doomsayers and Truth Tellers" Speaker: Dr. Teofilo A. Abrajano Jr. Professor, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, New York
2. "Education for Sustainable Development: Developing Green Schools" Speaker: Dr. Merle C. Tan Director, NISMED
3. "Surviving Destruction in the Age of Distraction" Speaker: Mr. Von Glenn S. Hernandez Campaign Director, Greenpeace South East Asia
(June 23, 7:30 a.m. at the Bahay ng Alumni. For inquiries call the UP Alumni Association at 920-6871; 9206875; 9298327; 9298226 or through email: up.alum.assn@pacific.net.ph).

CELEBRATIONS

Freshman Welcome Assembly—The first day of classes in UPD is also the time the freshmen will be formally welcomed to the University. Talks and presentations from various sectors of UPD are in store for the campus' newest constituents. The freshmen will also receive survival kits, plus some other helpful tools, courtesy of the UP Freshman Orientation Program Committee (FOPC), that would be useful to their introduction to the exciting culture UP is known for. (June 13, 8 a.m. for freshmen belonging to colleges except CSSP, CS, and CoE and 1 p.m. for freshmen belonging to CSSP, CS and CoE at the UP Theater. For inquiries please call FOPC/OSA at 920-5399 or 981-8500 local 4507)

Freshman Week—The Freshman Orientation Program Committee (FOPC) is making sure that the frosh be set up at the AS Walk on June 15 and 16 as a part of FOPC's service to the freshmen. Freebies from various sponsors will be given out as well. The second FOPC Booth will be set up on June 26 to 30 at the AS Walk to promote the activities lined up for the Freshman Week.

2. FOPC Exhibit—shows the UP FOPC and the profiles of its 75 member organizations in order to familiarize the freshmen with their activities.

3. Freebies Day—free Ikot and Toki jeepney rides on campus for the whole day available to the UPD constituents, particularly the freshmen. Freshmen will also be given a free taste of isaw and fishballs, the most popular street food on campus.

4. Movie Re-screening—Freshmen will have the privilege to watch the critically-acclaimed movie, Brokeback Mountain at the Cine Adarna for free.

5. Rookie Camp: A Mini-Fair Year 2—One highlight of the Freshman Week, the mini-fair will showcase paint ball competitions, henna/glitter/face painting, videoke challenge, dance revo, frisbee and wall climbing. There will also be a free food fest.

6. Block picture taking—For posterity, freshmen will get to take photos of their blockmates and other freshman blocks.

7. Scholarship Fair—Freshmen and upper class students alike get to know the scholarships available to them in this 1-day activity.

8. FRESH TO PLAY: Free Concert for Freshmen—A night-long party sponsored by the FOPC that will feature popular bands and various performers.

9. Alternative block classes—A 2-day activity and alternative way to ensure proper block facilitation of freshman blocks.

(July 3 to 7. Please refer to the calendar for the time and dates. For particulars call FOPC/OSA at 920-5399 or 981-8500 loc 4507)

Mga BIDA ng 2006! (Mga Bagong Isko at Iska Dito sa AS ng 2006)—The CSSP Student Council opens the school year with a bang through lively series of activities that will provide a warm welcome for the CSSP freshmen such as: Block Picture-taking; CSSP Freshman Welcome Assembly and Orientation which is a whole afternoon of performances from different college and university-based groups alongside a thorough introduction to college and university services and other vital aspects of the UP community; distribution of survival kits containing the CSSP freshman survival handbook, ballpens, test booklets, student-organizations' giveaways and freebies from different partner companies; The BIBO Amazing Race: Treasure Hunt Edition participated in by 5-member teams from each CSSP freshman block and created to test the power and strength of neophytes; CSSP Freshmen Circle 2006: The Homecoming wherein the CSSP freshmen will once again be convened, this time to draft plans for the CSSP Freshmen Circle, the CSSP SC's arm to the college freshmen. In this assembly, different concerns of the freshmen will also be further tackled as we invite some members of the college administration; KAPPistahan ng mga BIDA 2007: The CSSP Freshmen Night which is a variety show that will encourage participating blocks to showcase their talents. Professional performers as well as other local college/university talents will also be invited. (June 13 to 29. Please refer to the calendar for the time and dates. For particulars call Joseph Basconillo at 0917-9930119)

FreshstART—is a weeklong event organized by the CFA Student Council to welcome the CFA freshmen. Among the activities lined up are: RTR harana search for Mr. and Ms. Freshie (to be determined by votes), volleyball and basketball competition, on-the-spot drawing contest and wallworks, sack race, PET bottle relay, and a free concert featuring FA bands and performers as well as other special guests. (July 10 to July 14 at the College of Fine Arts. Please refer to the calendar for the time and dates. For particulars call Marish Viola at 920-8993 or 0917-5210630)
