Message from the Chancellor

PROP. FIDEL R. NEMENZO, D.Sc.

Malugod na pagbati sa mga artista-iskolar na lumalahok sa KALOOB SALIKSIK: Bahaginan ng mga Artista-Iskolar ng UP Diliman!

Bilang kayamanan ng unibersidad, naniniwala ako na malaki ang maiaambag ng mga artista-iskolar ng UPD sa pagpapayabong ng iba't ibang aralin ng kultura at sining gamit ang kanilang masusing pag-unawa sa sambayanan, sangkatauhan, at sangkalibutan. Sa pamamagitan ng mga programa na UP Diliman Visual Arts and Cultural Studies Scholarship Program, UP Diliman Performing Arts Scholarship Program, at UP Diliman Creative Critical Thesis Grant in the Arts, Culture, and the Humanities, hangad ng unibersidad na bigyan ng masugid na suporta ang mga susunod na henerasyon ng mga artista-iskolar ng bayan.

Bilang pasasalamat sa inyong kaloob na saliksik, binabati ko kayong lahat...

Para sa dangal at husay;

Para sa tumitindig na pitik, galaw, at tinig;

Para sa mapagpalayang sining at pananaliksik; at

Para sa patuloy na paglikha mula at tungo sa bayan

Maraming salamat at taas-kamaong pagpupugay, Artista-Iskolar ng Bayan!

Mensahe mula sa Direktor ng OICA/

Message from the OICA Director

PROP. CECILIA S. DE LA PAZ, PH.D.

Mula ng mapagtibay ng UP Board of Regents ang mga UPD-OICA ARTIST SUPPORT PROGRAM noong 2017—tulad ng UP Performing Arts Scholarship Program (UPD PASP), UP Diliman Visual Arts and Cultural Studies Scholarship Program (UPD VACSSP), at UP Diliman Creative Critical Thesis Grant in the Arts, Culture, and the Humanities (UPD CCTGACH)—adhikain ng unibersidad na pagyamanin ang karunungan at pagkamalikhain ng mga artista-iskolar ng bayan. Mahigit 400 na estudyante na ang nakinabang sa mga program na ito sa pamamagitan ng tuition fee waiver o stipend, o kaya ay thesis grants.

Sa pagsasagawa ng kauna-unahang kolokyum ng mga artista-iskolar ng UP Diliman, nagpapasalamat ang unibersidad sa talas ng sipat at suri ng mga bagong henerasyon ng mga iskolar ng bayan. Nakatataba ng puso na marinig ang mga pananaliksik na kasama sa kolokyum bilang mga kinatawan ng mas malawak na komunidad ng mga artista-iskolar ng UP Diliman, sa loob at sa labas ng campus. Nawa'y maipagpatuloy ninyo ang inyong sining at gawaing pananaliksik sa mga susunod na panahon at sa anumang larangan ng buhay.

Malugod na pagbati at mabuhay ang sining Pilipino!

Ang konsepto ng KALOOB na maaaring mangahulugang, 'handog, ambag, regalo, alay, donasyon, pamana, alaala,' ay nagbibigay-diin sa pakikipag-ugnayan ng mga Pilipino sa pamamagitan ng diwa ng pagbibigayan at pakikipagkapwa. Nabibigkis ang isang pamayanan at bayan sa pamamagitan ng mga gawain na nagpapahalaga sa kalooban ng bawat miyembro nito kung kaya't ang mga likhang sining na naka-ugat sa karanasan ng bayan ay dapat pagyamanin. Sa gitna ng pandemya at mga problemang pangkalikasan, panlipunan, pangkabuhayan, at politikal, kasama na ang pagpigil sa karapatan sa malayang pamamahayag sa isang demokratikong bansa, ang mga artista-iskolar-manlilikha ay patuloy na lumilikha ng sining na nagmumula at patungo sa bayan.

Ang festival ay pagkakataon na bigyan ng karampatang halaga ang sining at kultura sa pagpapayabong ng kamalayang makatao, sa mga pamamaraang malikhain na taglay ang perspektibong kritikal na siyang sandigan ng liberal na edukasyon ng Pamantasan. May tatlong dimensyon ang festival:

Una, binibigyang pugay ang mga bagong hirang na Pambansang Alagad ng Sining (Proklamasyon Bilang 1390, na napirmahan ng 10 Hunyo 2022) kung saan lima dito ay kabilang sa komunidad ng UP.

Pangalawa, pinakikilala ang mga gawain at adhikain ng mga mag-aaral ng UPD na silang mga bagong artista-iskolar mula sa Artist Support Program ng UP Diliman Opisina ng Pagpapasimuno sa Kultura at mga Sining na lumilikha at nagsasaliksik patungkol sa iba't-ibang aspeto ng sining at kultura.

Pangatlo, ginagawaran ng karampatang pagkilala ang mga Manlilikha ng Bayan o Tagapaghawak ng Kaalamang Bayan na nagsusulong ng tradisyunal na kultura sa kani-kanilang komunidad.

The concept of KALOOB—which can mean 'present, contribution, gift, offering, donation, inheritance, memory'—gives importance to the interconnectedness of Filipinos through the spirit of giving and fellowship. Communities and nations are wrought together by gestures that value each of their members, which is the reason why artworks grounded on this experience of the community and the nation have to be enriched. In the midst of the pandemic and environmental, societal, economic, and political problems—along with the restrictions on freedom of speech in a democratic country—artists-scholars-makers continue to create art that is from and for the nation.

The festival, therefore, serves as an opportunity to give proper value to art and culture and their role in the enrichment of human consciousness, through creative methods from a critical perspective, which serve as the backbone of the University's liberal education. It has three main dimensions:

First, honoring the newly appointed National Artists (Proclamation Number 1390 signed on 10 June 2022), of whom five are artist-scholars belonging to the UP community.

Second, introducing to the public the young artist-scholars under the Artist Support Program of the UP Diliman Office for Initiatives in Culture and the Arts (UPD-OICA) who create art and conduct research on various aspects of art and culture.

Third, officially recognizing the National Living Treasures or Culture Bearers who continue to promote traditional culture in their communities.

Introduksyon sa Kolokyum/ Introduction to the Colloquium

Ang Kaloob-Saliksik: Bahaginan ng mga Iskolar-Artista ng UP Diliman ay isang online na kolokyum na naglalayong magbukas ng espasyo para sa mga artista-iskolar ng Visual Arts and Cultural Studies Scholarship Program (VACSSP), Creative Critical Thesis Grant in the Arts, Culture, and the Humanities (CCTGACH), at Performing Arts Scholarship Program (PASP) upang maibahagi ang pananaliksik na kanilang isinagawa, at upang magkaroon ng mas malalimang talakayan ukol rito. Ipinakikita sa mga pananaliksik na ito ang masusi at makabuluhang pagnanais na maintindihan at magbigay kahulugan sa iba't ibang aspeto ng sining, lipunan, at sangkalibutan. Isang pamamaraan rin ang kolokyum upang makapagkaloob o makapag-ambag ang mga artista-iskolar sa iba't ibang usapin ng bayan sa pamamagitan ng kanilang pagkamatatalas na siyang sandigan ng liberal na edukasyon ng Unibersidad ng Pilipinas.

Kaloob-Saliksik: Bahaginan ng mga Iskolar-Artista ng UP Diliman is an online colloquium that aspires to open spaces for the artist-scholars of the Visual Arts and Cultural Studies Scholarship Program (VACSSP), Creative Critical Thesis Grant in the Arts, Culture, and the Humanities (CCTGACH), and Performing Arts Scholarship Program (PASP) to share their scholarly papers and presentations, igniting further discussions on them. The research endeavors of the artist-scholars demonstrate their keen and meaningful desire to understand and give meaning to various aspects of art, society, and the worldplanet. The colloquium also serves as an avenue for the artist-scholars to impart and contribute to the different discourses on the nation through their criticality, which is a pillar of the liberal education of the University of the Philippines.

Amey takod num-a (Let's go to the garden): A rapid ethnography on cut flower farming as a local knowledge system in Sitio Lamut, Brgy. Beckel, La Trinidad

The Philippines is home to various ethnolinguistic communities across its archipelago, cultivating an unfathomable number of indigenous or local knowledge systems. Despite this, scientific knowledge learned through the formal education system is deemed to be the standard and what is often celebrated. However, Arzadon (2016) argues that this kind of education is just another form of learning. In a study they conducted in Sitio Lamut, Brgy. Beckel in La Trinidad, Benguet, they found that some of the students who dropped out of school pursued different learning pathways; one of which is the Mambunong (village priest-elders) knowledge system. This study will bank on the aforementioned research on two knowledge systems found in Sitio Lamut, i.e. the Mambunong knowledge system and the public school knowledge system. Titled Amey takod num-a, which translates to "let's go to the garden" in the community's local Kankanaey language, this paper will focus on a local knowledge system that concerns cut flower farming, one of the primary sources of income in the sitio. This paper will also explore how cut flower farming provides training and livelihood to the gardineros, otherwise known as flower farmers or gardeners, of the community through participant observation and interviews. In doing so, this study seeks to answer how the gardeners of Sitio Lamut negotiate the co-existence of the local knowledge of cut flower farming and the scientific knowledge gained through formal institutions of learning, and hopefully to help gardineros in navigating a changing and uncertain world.

Banyuhay: Tugma's plight to continue the traditions amidst the new normal

As students of musicology and performers of traditional music, members of Tugtugang Musika Asyatika are always conscious of three objectives: to conserve Asian music, to observe its culture and traditions, and to further the value of its performance as a service to the community. Musicking activities closely follow the music cultures that the local performing group adopts. In particular, their performances of traditional Asian music are mostly given as an ensemble, hardly ever as solo performances. Naturally, the group members enhance their musicianship while they rehearse and interact with each other. Most importantly, workshop-performances are designed to be experiential in accordance with the group's long-standing efforts to raise global awareness of Philippine indigenous music. The recent migration of the group's musicking activities from live rehearsals to online meetings raises the question: how can this group of young musicians sustain the musicking traditions that their agency has upheld since its beginnings? How can they comply with these principles while physically distant?

Exercising autoethnography while following Huib Schippers' framework of "ecosystems of music" (Schippers 2015: 134-146), this case study examines the efforts of Tugtugang Musika Asyatika to maintain its traditions as it transitions its activities online and finds revival through the creation of a year-long project, while also documenting the obstacles it faces as a dependent agency.

Disiplina, Dayalogo, at Dula

Itinatag ng Philippine Educational Theater Association (PETA) ang Advocate Right to Safety Zone Project for Children na mas kilala sa ART Zone Project bilang programang pangkultura na nagsusulong ng adbokasiyang positibong disciplina at karapatang pambata. Layunin ng programang baguhin ang namamayaning kultura ng dahas sa pagdidisiplina ng mga bata at kabataan. Ang positibong disciplina ay ikinakampanya sa publiko bilang alternatibo sa korporal na parusa, at iba pang porma ng marahas at mapanakit na disciplina.

Isa sa mga naging pangunahing pamamaraan ng pagsisiwalat ng adbokasiya ay ang paglikha ng produksiyong panteatro at paglilibot nito sa mga komunidad at paaralan. Unang nabuo ang dulang "Rated: PG" na tumungo sa mga pangunahing lungsod sa Metro Manila. Nang higit pang pinalawak ang saklaw ng programa, nabuo ang tatlong adaptasyon ng dula sa mga rehiyon sa pakikipagtulungan ng mga grupong panteatrong katuwang sa adbokasiya—ang "Ahh... Bakus! (Ahh... Sinturon!)" ng Youth Advocates Through Theater Arts (YATTA) sa Dumaguete City, "Si Al buda an Tsinelas (Si Al at ang Tsinelas)" ng Sining Banwa sa Legazpi City, at ang "Istoryahe Lang Ko (Kausapin Mo Ako)" ng Teatro Guindengan sa Ozamiz City.

Lilimiiin ang estetika ng dayalogo sa mga dulang ito na tumatampok sa isang karaniwang mag-anak partikular ang kanilang mga hamong kinakaharap sa buhay, mga kontekstong panlipunan na kanilang nilulugaran, at ang mga naging implikasyon nito sa pagdidisiplina ng mga bata sa loob at labas ng tahanan.

Ang mga linya sa dula pati na ang mga akto ng pakikipagdayalog sa mga eksena ng pagtatanghal ay mga lunsaran ng pagbubukas ng mga posibilidad sa mga manonood. Sa pagdanas ng teatro, ang publiko ay kagyat na iniimbitahang huwag manatili sa pagkakatali sa isang sarado o walang-kawalang kalagayan na problematisasyon ng pagdidisiplina sa mga bata na kadalasang nagreresulta sa marahas na pagdidisiplina. Inaanyahan ang lahat na maging malikhain, bukas ang isipan, at may pagkilala sa dignidad ng bawat isa, bata man o matanda, nang sa gayon ang disciplina ay huwag kailan man ituring bilang kasingkahulugan ng parusa.

IKALAWANG PANEL:

Pagka-Pilipino: Konsepto at mga Isyu/ Being Filipino: Concept and Issues

Ang konsepto ng pagka-Pilipino ay matagal nang binabaybay ng mga artista at mga iskolar ng sining at kultura. Binibisita ng panel na ito ang konseptong ito ngunit inilalapat sa konteksto ng kontemporaryong panahon na lubog sa karanasan ng globalisasyon at mass media.

The concept of being Filipino has long been dwelled on by artists and culture and arts scholars. This panel revisits this concept, but locates it in the context of the contemporary, which is immersed in the experience of globalization and mass media.

Who/What/Where Are We Now? Contemporary Issues on Art in the Philippine Society

Art is ever evolving and expanding across civilizations. The reality of art's position in society comes down to the individual, the unique and particular artist, who finds expression through their practice of artmaking. This paper circles around a collection of socio-political questions as the context to how art is continuously created as expression of the artist. Different works of contemporary Filipino artists are exemplified to draw conclusions on the current position of art in Philippine society. Art in the Philippines exemplifies the larger project of art history as it seeks its own place and identity in the world. Artists have continuously interrogated in their work the nature of the Filipino, a decisive question that not only ponders the identity of art but also the Filipino identity in a continuously globalizing world. Furthermore, the role of art in Philippine society has started movements which even question the breakthrough of an artist and their interaction with socio-economic structures in place. Thus, the place of the artist in Philippine society also centers on a debate whether a masterpiece should be an economic product or something created purely in the name of art. This paper tackles three main issues faced by Philippine art: (1) art in the socio-economic context; (2) the definition of the "Filipino"; and (3) the female identity in Philippine art. These three issues help define the current place of art in Philippine society and unveil the definitive and critical purpose of art as an institution. This paper also contextualizes these areas of study in history and provides concrete examples and manifestations, leading to an understanding of the developments of Philippine art in the current period.

Pamanang Panlasa: Tatlong Restawrang Pilipino-Amerikano bilang Lunan ng Identidad at Alaala

"Kaugalian at kultura ang nagpasya na ang iba't ibang tao ay kumakain ng iba't ibang pagkain, at iyon ang pinanggagalingan ng pagpipilian at pakikipagsapalaran," ayon sa historyador at kritiko ng pagkain na si Doreen Fernandez (1994) (sariling salin). Tatlong lugar sa Estados Unidos ang may malaking populasyon ng mga Pilipino-Amerikano: New York, Hawaii, at California. Sa pananaliksik na ito, kinilala ang tatlong restawran ng pagkaing Pilipino at ang mga may-ari nito: si Jude Canela ng Bilao sa Upper East Side, Manhattan, si Norlita Yere ng M&N Filipino Restaurant sa Honolulu, at sina Johneric Concordia at Christine Araquel-Concordia ng The Park's Finest sa Historic Filipinotown, Los Angeles. Inalam sa pananaliksik ang dulot at impluwensya ng pagkakaroon ng mga restawran ng pagkaing Pilipino sa loob ng Pilipino-Amerikanong diaspora gamit ang balangkas ng kasaysayan ng buhay, tungo sa etnografiya ng hapagkainan sa pag-aaral tungkol sa pagkain ni Ramona Lee Perez (2019) at ang mga implikasyon ng kritikal na teoryang lahi sa kanilang pamumuhay bilang mga minorya. Sa paghihimay ng kasaysayan ng mga Pilipino-Amerikano at mga restawran ng pagkaing Pilipino, nalaman na dinamiko ang pagkain at mayroong mga aspekto ng kultura ng mga Pilipino ang nakakabit sa hapagkainan.

Ang mga restawran ay nagpapanatili ng ugnayan mula Estados Unidos tungo sa Pilipinas sa paggigiit ng identidad, pagsasalu-salo, at pakikipagsapalaran ng mga Pilipino-Amerikano. Tinalakay din ang usapin ng fusion o tradisyonal sa paghahain ng pagkaing Pilipino sa Estados Unidos. Bukod sa pagging katalista ng paggunita, ang pagkaing Pilipino ay buhay tulad ng mga wika ng Pilipinas: magbago man sa paglipas ng panahon ay mananatiling buhay, kahit saan man na may Pilipino.

The Effects of Maria Clara at Ibarra in Promoting Nationalism in the Filipino Youth

Nationalism has always been one of the most important foundations of every democratic country. One way to reaffirm the ideals of nationalism in the Philippines is through the implementation of Republic Act 1425, the Act that mandates high schools and state universities and colleges to study the life and works of the most revered reformist writer and national hero, Dr. Jose P. Rizal. This enables students from both the secondary and tertiary levels to thoroughly discuss and learn the ways in which they can better themselves and society. In the past decades, there has been an alarming growth of disinterested Filipino youth in learning Rizal's works, more importantly his novels Noli Me Tangere and El Filibusterismo. This resulted in learning the subject-matter by force, such as summarizing the chapters of the book, or plainly reading the novels without understanding the meaning of the text in the reaffirmation of nationalistic ideals. On October 3, 2022, GMA premiered their latest primetime drama series, Maria Clara at Ibarra, that reinvents and retells Rizal's two novels. It was an instant hit, and was regarded favorably by adults, millennials, and GenZs. This study aims to analyze through a podcast, the immediate effects of the show in the rededication of the youth to the ideals of freedom and nationalism. The conversations answered some important questions about the background of the show, how it is conceived by its head writer, Suzette Doctolero, what are the ways they went through to guarantee the most believable and accurate retelling of the novels, and how it is re-shaping the views of the Filipinos about neocolonialism.

Malansang Fish: Mistranslation and the Fact of Translation

The article criticizes the failure to capture the Filipino sensibility in contemporary Philippine short stories in English, primarily using the fiction pieces in Writing the Philippines, a special issue of Cha: An Asian Literary Journal in July 2018. With poets Ricardo M. De Ungria and Lawrence Lacambra Ypil as guest editors, it is one of the more recent collations of literary work that explicitly focus on the Philippines as location and on the local sensibility. The editorial, "The Pinoy Sensorium," claims that the contributors were "attuned to their localities across different parts of the country." There is a mistranslation, so to speak, with how some writers of English write the Filipino sensibility, a consequence that is attributable to the pitfalls of cultural translation and untranslatability, criticized by Brian James Baer for their shared ambivalence to what he calls "the fact of translation" (140). This fact of translation is similar to J. Neil Garcia's recognition of the translated nature of Philippine literature in English. In contrast to Garcia's criticism against the realism of Philippine literature in English, the article argues that translation renders realist the English prose, when monolingual English, as purported by the Tiempos in New Criticism, is recalibrated for the disruption of the multilingual and translational.

Salin-Salamin: Ang Pagsasa-Filipino ng mga Banyakang Programa

Ang pagsasalin ay pamamaraan ng pagdaloy ng mga ideya, impormasyon, at kultura mula sa iba't ibang wika at lipunan. Mayroon ng mga pananaliksik tungkol sa pagsasalin sa Filipino, ngunit malimit ang mga pag-aaral ukol sa pagsasaling nagaganap sa multimedia, partikular na sa dubbing. Sa pananaliksik na ito, nakapanayam ang anim na indibidwal mula sa lokal na industriya ng dubbing sa Pilipinas upang malaman ang mga polisiya at batayan sa dubbing, ang mga prosesong administratibo at sa scriptwriting at dubbing, at iba pang kaugnay na mga teknikal na kaalaman. Bilang pag-aaral naman sa daluyan ng wika at kultura, tig-isang Hollywood movie, Korean historical drama, at Japanese anime ang sinuri ang semantiko upang ipagkumpara ang mga salin sa pinagmulan na teksto. Nalamang may mga naganap na (1) pagsasalin ng mga pangalan, (2) pagpapanatili ng banyakang salita sa salin, (3) pagsama ng mga lokal na salita sa salin, at (4) malalayong saling Filipino mula sa Ingles. Sa kabuuan, maihalaintulad ang proseso ng pagsasalin sa dubbing sa pagging dinamiko ng wikang Filipino.

IKAAPAT NA PANEL:

Sining at Espasyo/ Art and Space

Mayroong matalik na relasyon sa pagitan ng sining at espasyo. Sa marami nitong sangandaan, mula sa personal hanggang sa mas malawak na kapaligiran, pinagtatago nito ang mistulang hiwa-hiwalay na mga usapin ng pagkababae at kawalan ng trabaho; paghilom at pahinga; kaguluhan at hugpungan—mga paksang tatalakayin ng panel na ito.

Art and space share an intimate relationship. In their many intersections, from the personal to the wider milieu, it brings together seemingly disparate issues of womanhood and unemployment; healing and respite; chaos and connectivity—all of which will be discussed in this panel.

Kung Nakakababa ba ng Matres ang High Heels

Ang "Kung Nakakababa ba ng Matres ang High Heels" ay isang personal na sanaysay tungkol sa naging kalbaryo ko bilang isang babaeng job-hunter na minulat sa pagtinging "seksi," "malakas ang dating," at "may kapangyarihan" ang babaeng nakatakong. Binagtas ng naturang sanaysay ang naging komyut ko sa paghahanap ng trabaho, mula sa rush hour ng Commonwealth, balyahan sa Araneta Center-Cubao MRT Station, pagbara ng mga sasakyen sa Santolan, hanggang sa gulo ng Ortigas—lahat, habang nakatakong.

Umbilicus: Exploring the Production of Symbolic Space

The thesis investigates space through installation, resulting in the creation of a personal symbolic space for solitary respite, represented by a walk-through spiral. The thesis was anchored in Carl Jung's theory that communication with the unconscious, through engagement with archetypal images in art, is necessary for psychic equilibrium—the foundation of art therapy practice. Copper, gauze, and salt manufactured for everyday functions were assembled to construct an abstract snail shell, recalling ancient associations of these materials with healing. The snail housed a walk-through spiral pathway leading to a center punctum. The gauze-walled path narrowed towards the center to represent a going inward towards the self. Walking outwards from the center in the opposite direction completed the cycle. An ephemeral space for the personal and intimate was located within the outdoor environment, contextualizing the artwork through theories of space production and spatial relationships amidst the structures of the university. Methods of making were guided by intuitive processes and personal response to natural elements, in an exploration of materials and form. By using archetypal symbols and ancient materials rife with personal meaning, Umbilicus embodied the artist's personal process of inner healing.

Linescapes: Aestheticizing Chaos of Urban Infrastructure

This research hinges on the pure visual element of lines seen in the wires of utility posts, in the weave of urban patterns, and in the waveform of the city's pulse. The term "linescapes" was coined from ROAM Reader On Aesthetics of Mobility, where mobility is a means to experience the city whose landscape is characterized by the contours of infrastructure. A landscape of lines, here urban forms, movement and mobility, counter-mapping strategies, and the integral role of technology explore concepts of connectivity and urban alienation. This spatial exploration stems from representing the city in terms of the visual chaos which is seen in the dysfunctional aspects of urban infrastructure through individual and shared experiences. The following activities were involved in the process: digital and mobile phone photography, vector line drawing, digital image enhancement, digital animation, importing and exporting of data files, nonlinear video editing and display, indoor and outdoor projection, and collaborating with contemporary dance, as well as engaging viewers' participation thru their movement in space. This going-through-the-city to capture one's experience reflects the idea of the flâneur popularized by Charles Baudelaire and Walter Benjamin, and uses Kevin Lynch' concept of "imageability". It also demonstrates a becoming and embodied movement encapsulated in the writings of Maurice Merleau-Ponty on phenomenology. In applying abstraction, symmetry, and motion, the chaos of the city becomes legible. It echoes the complexity theory of cities where order is achieved from chaos. Where wires connect to wires, lines continue to lines, data links to data, and lives relate to lives, we perform a counter-mapping of our urban experience, "here and now".

The Office for Initiatives in Culture and the Arts (OICA) seeks to advance UP Diliman (UPD) to the forefront of artistic and cultural engagement in the country by providing its artists with rich and varied spaces and opportunities to realize their full potentials while enriching the artistic and cultural experience on campus and beyond.

OICA was created by the UP Board of Regents in March 1999 to formulate policies, guidelines, plans, and programs on artistic and cultural activities for UPD.

As such, it was envisioned to systematize programs towards the development of medium- and long-term plans for culture and the arts, in the context of UPD's mission and vision. It was likewise tasked to create and sustain domestic and international art linkages and to generate additional funds to sustain its programs.

The Office has five major functions. The first is to formulate policies and programs on artistic and cultural activities for the UPD campus that will enrich the experiences of the UPD academic community, and at the same time that will promote humanistic and nationalistic values and create an environment conducive to the full realization of the artists' potentials.

The second function is to organize, coordinate, and/or support various artistic and cultural activities or objects at UPD in theater, music, cinema, visual arts, and others; the third is to promote and support the various artists and artistic groups; and the fourth is to plan and oversee the development of cultural facilities and infrastructure on campus.

Its final function is to promote UPD as a major cultural center of the Philippines.

To do this, OICA provides financial and technical support to artists and art groups, as well as to artistic and cultural initiatives of units and organizations at UPD through four key programs, namely Artist Support, Audience Development, Venue Development and Cultural Exchange. It also supports partnerships with other cultural institutions through collaborative projects such as conferences, workshops and performances, among others.
